Twenty-two high school basket fives will begin preparation today for the strenuous siege of playing in a state title tournament Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at Purdue University, Lafayette. These twenty-two teams emerged from their local districts champions of their sections.

The teams which will play at Lafayette are Manual of Indianapolis, Anderson, Bloomington, Washington, Brazil, Columbus, Crawfordsville, Franklin, Thorntown, Emerson of Gary, Greencastle, Huntington, Kendallville, Kokomo, Lafayette, Logansport, Martinsville, Newcastle, Rochester, South Bend, Richmond and Vincennes.

Of these teams, there are six or that by their work all season will predominate as favorites in the meet. However, the unexpected may happen just as it did Saturday afternoon at Frankfort, when the Lebanon five, considered one of the best teams in the state, was bumped off by Zionsville, 15 to 14, in a thrilling contest. This defeat was all the more surprising, for the champions apparently had the contest sewed up in the first round, when they were leading by a 10-to-0 score.

One of the features of the court game is its uncertainty and almost any team you name of the ones to compete in the title show is likely to make a good showing. This tourney at Lafayette is expected to far exceed any other event of its kind in the matter of interest and brand of play. Greencastle's first game will be played Friday morning at 9 o'clock, when the local lads will meet the fast Rochester team. The up-state aggregation is a fast one and went through the sectional tourney in its own district without much trouble.

The home boys, however, are confident that they will take the measure of the Rochester team. If they win their first game the Greencastle boys will meet either Columbus or South Bend in their second game.

Preparations are being made for a big delegation of rooters to accompany the home team to Lafayette and cheer them on to victory.

Perhaps no sectional tourney winner went through its games with a record as good as that of Greencastle. In the four games played by the local lads only eighteen points were scored against them. This shows a wonderful defensive game. Belle Union was blanked. Roachdale made three points. Amo scored nine and Bainbridge made six points. And while the team was holding their opponents to a low score its wonderful scoring machine went right ahead and made point after point. In each game it scored at least eighteen points, which is as many points as were scored against it by all of its opponents.

PARKE COUNTY MAN KILLED—BODY THROWN IN STREAM

Rockville, March 9.—Searchers found the body of Clifford Taylor, age 51, in Little Raccoon Creek, near Armburg. The man, who was a resident of Clinton, where he operated a taxicab line, had been robbed and then shot to death, his body afterward being thrown into the stream. He was known generally to have considerable money on his person.

Taylor started to drive to Meece and his automobile covered with blood stains was recovered early yesterday, it having been abandoned by a roadside south of this city. A search for the body of Taylor in that vicinity failed to get results and it was learned later in the day that blood stains had been noticed on a bridge near Armburg.

Don't forget the date—March 17 and 18.

17-YEAR LOCUST IS DUE IN MAY

Lafayette, Ind., March 10.—The 17-year locust, which will appear in Indiana this year, in all probability will come the last week in May and remain until the middle of June, say men in the entomology department of Purdue University who have made special investigations of the subject.

"A large brood is predicted and because of this orchard men generally are in a state of unrest regarding orchard operations. Some are anxious about the safety of trees already out and others are in doubt as to whether or not it is advisable to set out trees this spring. To these men we can say that there will likely be some damage to apple trees that are close to clumps of forest or shade trees because the insect breed and develop in these places. It is only natural for some of them to go outside their bounds and attack the near-by apple trees," said Prof. James Troop, head of the department.

"Damage to trees is brought about by the female chiseling the smaller limbs and twigs with her lance-like egg-laying apparatus. This weakens the branch at the point of attack and causes it to break. The resultant damage to the tree depends on its age. Old trees are injured very little because the work of the locust in this case amounts to a pruning; however in the case of the young tree the injury may be serious, due to the removal of the scaffold limbs.

"Where the locust is going to be numerous, near forests or woodlands," he said, "we suggest that pruning and girdling operations be neglected this spring as much as possible. Orchard planting should not be discouraged except in localities close to forest or shade trees and even here it would be well to protect young trees with mosquito netting, making it entirely practical to plant this present year.

"There is little that can be done in the way of spraying to rid one's premises of the pest."

SATURDAY THE LAST DAY FOR INCOME REPORT

M. M. SHORES, DEPUTY COLLECTOR, WARNS PUTNAM COUNTY PEOPLE THAT MAKING OUT REPORTS SHOULD NOT BE PUT OFF UNTIL THE LAST MINUTE.

SOME INFORMATION, TOO

Do not put off making out your income tax report blank until the last minute. This is the warning of Deputy Collector M. M. Shores, who is here assisting in the making out of reports in Putnam county.

These reports must be mailed by Saturday, but a last-minute rush will prove disastrous, according to the collector. Saturday probably will be his last day here, but he might be called away sooner. But should he be here Saturday and should there be a last minute rush, he absolutely would be unable to take care of the rush.

The corporation tax blanks have not yet arrived, but tentative forms have been mailed to each corporation. These blanks must be filled out and mailed to the revenue office with a check for at least one-quarter of the tax due by March 15. Neither have the partnership blanks arrived, but as there is no tax collectable on partnerships, an extension in time will be allowed on these.

BAKER AND DANIELS TO SAIL FOR FRANCE

Will Be Accompanied by Naval Experts and Will Discuss the Best Type of Ship.

Washington, March 8.—Secretary Daniels and a party of American naval experts will leave for Europe next week to discuss with allied naval officials the best type of capital warships to be built in the future based on the lessons gained in the great war. Because of conflicting opinions on the subject among American officers, the secretary has been asked to submit a definite recommendation to the next Congress in December.

It also was learned that Secretary Baker would sail for Europe about April 1 to close up the business operations of the American expeditionary forces. He will be absent about six weeks and probably will arrive overseas before Secretary Daniels returns home. Thus President Wilson and the heads of both the army and navy probably will be away from the country at the same time—a situation which many officials said today was without precedent.

MISS ANA PHIPPS AND ROSCOE DAGGY MARRIED SATURDAY

The marriage of Miss Anna Phipps, daughter of Mrs. T. J. Phipps and Roscoe Daggy, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Daggy, occurred Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, north of town. Rev. Victor Raphael of the Presbyterian church officiated. They will make their home on the C. W. Daggy farm, north of town. Because of the recent death of the bride's father and illness in the Phipps home, just the immediate friends and relatives were present.

BAINBRIDGE DEFEATED IN FINAL GAME

G. H. S. WINS FROM MONROE TOWNSHIP IN FINAL GAME OF SECTIONAL TOURNAMENT BY SCORE OF 18 TO 6—WILL GO TO STATE TOURNAMENT.

GREAT CROWD SEES GAME

The Greencastle basket ball team won the right to represent Greencastle district at the state basket ball tournament which will be held at Lafayette Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, by defeating the Bainbridge five on the local Bowman Gymnasium floor by a score of 18 to 6. One of the largest crowds that has ever attended a game in this city were present to see Coach Courson's five win from the north county lads for the fourth time this year. Bainbridge was represented by fully 500 people and the rooting of the two schools, aided by the support of the various other teams which stayed to see the tournament through, kept the gymnasium in a continual uproar.

The Greencastle team went in the tournament with a determination to win, and came out victorious. Greencastle today stands as one of the twenty-two schools in the state of Indiana who rank in the front line of basket ball, and who will battle for the state title the last part of this week. They will meet Rochester Friday morning at 9 o'clock for their first contest of the Lafayette tourney and are said to be equal if not superior to their first opponents. If they win this game they will play again Friday night.

The coach of the winning team is Prof. W. H. Courson, who came to Greencastle from Anderson, where he took part in the athletics of that school. It has been through his and the efforts of Assistant Coach James Ramsey of DePauw University that Greencastle is placed on the basket ball map. This is the first district tourney won by the local school.

The management of the tournament was in charge of Principal Courson of the local high school. Everything went off without a hitch and the visiting teams went away highly pleased with their treatment received while in Greencastle. Financially also the tourney was a great success. Out of the $850.44 taken in at the meet, over $350 will be clear profit for the local school. This money will likely be spent for new apparatus and more extensive equipment for the athletics of the school.

DePauw fraternities rendered much service to the tournament management by entertaining the basket ball men at their houses. The fraternity men fell right in with the spirit of the tournament and because of the manner in which they handled the visitors they won the approval of the local and visiting teams. Coach E. C. Buss of the university also did his best to see a successful tournament and helped Manager Courson in every possible way.

Someone had said before the meet that Greencastle lacked "pep." But this was proven to be wrong, for the student body of the school and business men of the town were behind the team every minute of the tournament and were willing to do anything for the team.

The eight men who represented G. H. S. and who will carry the colors of purple and gray to the state meet are: Percy Allee, Carl Allen, Lewis Hirt, Ray Michaels, Harold Newgent, Leroy Bee, Edward Wright and John Stoner.

The hearty co-operation of the teachers of the school with Principal Courson and the principals and coaches of the visiting teams was one of the main factors which made the tournament a success.

The team will leave Thursday afternoon for Lafayette so as to witness the Bloomington-Thorntown game, which will be one of the greatest contests of the tourney. Arrangements for 100 tourney tickets have been made by Principal Courson and those who wish to attend should see him at once. The 100 tickets were apportioned this district, but from the manner in which G. H. S. is looking at the tourney at present the majority of these will be taken by Greencastle alone. If a group of girls wish to make the trip a chaperone will be provided by the high school.

The two men who refereed the games were Charles Jensen of Terre Haute, and Homer Humke, principal of the Connersville high school. Each proved highly satisfactory and made many friends while in the city. Mr. Jensen was the referee for the final Greencastle-Bainbridge game, while Mr. Humke watched the sidelines.

The most amusing game of the tournament was held Saturday afternoon when Bainbridge and Clinton Center hooked up for a would-be farce contest. Clinton Center was looked upon by the crowd as an amateur and weak team and they thought that Bainbridge would have easy picking. But the tables were turned and had not the B. H. S. coach substituted his first line men and his team fought hard, Greencastle might have had to play Clinton Center in the finals. The first half ended 7 to 8 in favor of the Bainbridge lads with the Bainbridge boys greatly astonished and behooved at the way in which the C. H. S. boys were playing. The Bainbridge lads took the game as a joke at first but were awakened to their senses when Clinton Center began bombarding their goal with successful two-pointers. The large audience went wild and the 3,000 people yelling Clinton Center raw, raw, rather "got the goat" of Bainbridge and they went back in the game the second half with a different spirit from that which they evinced in the first. Davis was substituted for Shoemaker and Nutgrass for Hale, and then the star B. H. S. basket ball machine began work and score after score was written on the board for the wakened Bainbridge five. Although the score stood 28 to 12, the team was somewhat tired and some say that was the reason for their poor game with Greencastle Saturday night. Anyway, Clinton Center won a place in the hearts of Greencastle fans.

The G. H. S. lads won from the Amo five in the last game of the afternoon by a score of 18 to 9. The game was an easy one for Greencastle. This put the local team against Bainbridge for the night game. There were three teams which were picked winners of the tournament—Greencastle, Russellville, Amo and Bainbridge. Russellville was put out of the tournament early Saturday morning by Bainbridge, Amo was eliminated Saturday afternoon, and the two rivals left to fight it out Saturday night.

Greencastle vs. Bainbridge.
Ray Michaels of Greencastle, and a former member of the Bainbridge basket ball squad, started the scoring of the evening when he placed a field goal. York evened the score with a two-pointer and Carl Allen, the lengthy center, put Greencastle ahead with a foul. Allee and Newgent followed with a field apiece and Allee and Michaels the same. Time was taken out by Greencastle, the score standing 11 to 2 with the Bainbridge lads working frantically for a lead. Michaels resumed the fight with a field and the whistle blew for the close of the first half, the score 13 to 2 in favor of Greencastle.

Bainbridge came back stronger in the second half and caged four points while Greencastle was held to five, the game ending 18 to 6.

The summary and line-up is as follows:

Greencastle (18)	Bainbridge (6)
Allee	F

OBITUARY.

At an early hour Thursday morning, February 27, 1919, the gentle spirit of Margaret Wallace passed from earth. About two years ago, while going to the home of a sick neighbor, an affliction of the heart suddenly asserted itself which aid could not cure.

Throughout this time she fought bravely and patiently to overcome disease, laboring cheerfully whenever her strength permitted to minister to her loved ones and shield from the young shoulders of this dear daughter the heavier tasks of the household.

For some four weeks she was confined to her bed and since last Sunday failed rapidly.

Margaret McCollough was born near Quincy, Ind., Sept. 28, 1871, and had on September last passed her 47th birthday. She is survived by her father, John McCollough of Quincy, a brother Tom McCollough, Robert, a twin brother of Tom, having died young; five half-brothers, four half-sisters, besides her husband a son and daughter. She was the eldest child of John and Julia Carpenter McCollough.

At the tender age of 10 years her home was broken up by the death of the mother, after which she lived at the homes of different relatives in the vicinity of Quincy and Alaska, much of her time being spent with an aunt, Diath Putorff.

Early in the year 1894 she came to the home of Thomas Broadstreet, in Mill Creek township. Possessed of a bright, cheerful disposition, singing as she worked with no dark days to cloud her spirit, full of a beautiful young womanhood she scattered sunshine and won the highest esteem of the family and those about her. From this home on December 22, 1894, she was married to John Wallace, spending the first few years of her married life near there. On October 7, 1900, there came into her life a dear little daughter, Macel Glen, and four years later, October 8, 1904, a little son, Kenneth Raymond. These children, with her dear husband, were her devoted joy.

The family moved to Marion township about seventeen years ago, where they have since made their home.

She was a home-loving woman, always taking a great interest in everything that made for the comfort of those about her. She was always a mother to all the little children of the neighborhood, often tenderly caring for them in the absence of their mothers.

To this loving husband through these twenty-four years of married life she has been a true companion and a helpful mate in attaining the comforts of life and building a home.

Her wish and effort was always to do right, to speak ill of one. She was a living example of these principles. The high esteem in which she was held by her neighbors and friends is a fitting tribute to her memory. A short time before death she called her loved ones to her, saying they "had lived happily together," and to the daughter "she had been a good girl" and to "take care of papa."

A life is well spent, and that mother is a true heroine, who can live such a life, so useful, so beautiful, and pass that heritage on in the lives of others.

Such was the life of Margaret Wallace and the future shall know the fruits of her labors in the lives of these children with whom there existed such a close affection and companionship as to stir our utmost admiration.

Mother's work of life is ended.
Mother's lips are cold and still,
But her life work shall continue
And a place in memory fill.

Husband, daughter, son hath loved her
Her's has been a guiding hand,
But the spirit gates have opened
To a fairer, brighter land.

Though she cease from all her labor
There shall gleam from fields afar
Blessings for her earthly loved ones
Which shall be their guiding star.

The funeral was held from the Stillsville Baptist Church with interment in Stillsville cemetery. Rev. Ott Sherill conducted the services. The pallbearers were Mrs. Elma Smith, Linnie McAninch, Mary Hunter, Mingle Robinson, Ora Sechman and Francis Rector.

Capes.

This trouble is caused by a small worm that finds lodgment in the throat of the young chick. The chick swallows the eggs or possibly the worm in a minute form, which soon finds its way to the windpipe of the chick and there grows to maturity, causing death by suffocation. The infection comes from the ground, and chicks that do not have access to ground that is infected will not have gapes. Once in a while I meet someone who will tell me that he has had gapes among chicks that were raised in the second story of a building and had no possible chance to come in contact with the ground. It is not always possible for me to find out all the particulars. Sometimes it is plain that the trouble has been carried to them in fish worms that have been fed; sometimes earth or sand from infected spots has been carried to them for dusting. But one thing is sure, the gape worm comes from the soil, and the chick gets the infection from the soil, whether the direct means of transportation is detected or not. It is useless to waste time looking for the cause of the trouble in some other possible source. See to it that the chicks do not have anything that grows on such soil and there will be no gapes.

There are two or three ways of doing this. The cheapest one is to have two or three small brooder yards in which the chicks may be confined until they are safe from gapes, and then alternate the use of the yards, so that the chicks shall never be raised two years in succession on the same ground. If that is not convenient a single yard may be built after the manner previously described. A yard might be built after this fashion on the worst infected soil and the chicks never be seriously affected. The other alternative is to keep them on board floors until the danger period is passed. A small brooder house with a board floor ought to be provided on every farm where this trouble is prevalent. Lofts and empty haymows are often utilized. After the chicks are four to six weeks old they may then be let out with safe-

Making the Home Comfy

Needlework.

One woman has laid in a supply of the simple Irish picot edging as a finish for some guest towels. The lace is sufficiently heavy not to look out of place on the huck.

If annoyed by breaking silk when sewing, particularly in overcasting where there is a hard pull on the thread, try drawing the fingers along the silk from the point where broken off to the end. Sometimes waxing gives further strength.

You may avoid bad spots in garments being remodeled by examining the goods carefully and outlining the holes or defective spots with thread of a contrasting color. These spots which might otherwise be overlooked, can thus be avoided in the cutting or can be put in an unimportant place.

Telephone tablets or pads may be bought ready to cover at any stationery store. The covers may be made of cardboard, covered with cretonne, or just a flap of some pretty colored mounting board. A silk cord is used to hang the tablet by the telephone, and should, of course, have a pencil attached.

Baby caps made in one piece are most attractive and also convenient, as they can be ironed flat and thus kept fresh and dainty. They are cut with a straight edge and a semi-circular edge, very much the shape of one side of a tea cozy. The straight edge is fitted to the face and the semi-circular edge drawn into shape by means of eyelets worked along the edge, thru which ribbon is run. Rosettes at each side are also formed of the ribbon. White ribbon with blue scallops and forgetmenots embroidered over it, would certainly make a lovely cap for the baby. A cap of this kind for winter wear should have a lining of thin wadding and silk.

To prevent the lace yoke of an evening dress from being soiled by contact with the skin, line the yoke by hand with a piece of chiffon. When soiled by perspiration this is easily ripped out and a clean piece substituted.

Keep needles dry and shiny and the thread clean. Have an emery in every workbag or in its absence che's hair can be utilized. Thread or silk kept on spool cases grows dusty and the outer layer, if soiled, should be discarded.

Sheets which are wearing in the middle should be cut right through the center, the weakest parts should be cut away, and the sheet rejoined, with the sides now forming the center. If a sheet is too much worn to be remade it will cut up into towels for glass and china.

An experienced needlewoman suggests a list (which gives the various numbers of needles and cotton) to follow when sewing by hand. She advises a No. 9 needle for 70 and 80 cotton, when hemming and tucking; a No. 8 needle for 50 and 60 cotton for plain sewing, overhauling and overcasting; a No. 7 needle for 40 and 60 thread for gathering. When gathering or working buttonholes rub the thread over with a piece of beeswax. This will keep it from knotting and also help it to resist strain.

Always thread silk into a needle by putting the end of the silk that exists before it is unwound from the spool in the eye first. If the silk is put in from the end you break or cut, it untwists more easily than if it is threaded from the other end. Clip all bastings to be removed at five or six inch intervals. They can then be pulled out without wrinkling the fabric.

When you are sewing a great deal of work may be saved by the following arrangement: Place the sewing table on the left and at the right angle to the sewing machine; you can then turn from the sewing machine to the table without leaving your chair. If the scrap basket is placed at your right hand, all small bits can be dropped into the basket with ease, and save the after effort of picking them off the floor.

A convenient money bag is made by cutting two pieces of chambray, each piece 3 by 9 inches. Lay the two pieces together and stitch the sides and on a line one inch from the bottom edge. Snip the unseamed part and the top to make the fringe. Fold the top back upon the right side and cut four slits in each half one inch below the fold. Run narrow chambray through the slits and finish with knots or small tassels, or faster with small snappers.

Recipes.

Omelet, Percival.—Eggplant-cut in squares and fried in butter, grated parmesan cheese beaten in the eggs—the omelet made in butter in which the eggplant was fried. The eggplant folded into it, seasoned with salt and black pepper.

Fruit Turnovers.—Two cups flour two teaspoonfuls baking powder, one half teaspoonful salt, two teaspoonfuls shortening, one-half cup milk four teaspoonfuls seeded and chopped raisins. Sift flour, salt, baking powder into bowl; and shortening and rub in very lightly. Add enough milk to hold together; put on floured board; roll out one-half inch thick, cut into three inch squares. Put a teaspoonful of the chopped raisins in center, wet edges with milk and turn over, making it three cornered. Press together, brush top with milk and bake twenty-five to thirty minutes in hot oven.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Prof. Bert Knight expressed the feeling of the high school body this morning when he said: "La Fayette, we are here," in speaking about the spirit in which the Greencastle basketball team will journey to the state tournament. Full two periods were given over to the students and team members to express themselves on the big win Saturday night. The eight men who carried the colors, purple and gray, victoriously throughout the tourney were given an ovation when they came upon the platform after the introduction had been given by Yell Leader Allen Tilden. In turn they thanked the students for their loyalty to the team during the meet and all stated their whole-hearted support in the state tourney.

Principal Courson was called to the platform by the audience and he said in part: "The moral courage which the team won I count greater than the victory alone. To know that this team entered the tournament with clean, gentlemanly playing tactics and came out winners of the Greencastle district in the last game without a foul on the local team is certainly a reward for my efforts. The moral fiber and character building which this team has undergone while in training and taking part in the contests are the greatest essentials of good, helpful manhood. I will not prophesy as to the outcome of the state meet; I will not say how long Greencastle will remain in the tourney, but I will say that when Rochester meets Greencastle Friday morning at 9 o'clock she will come out of that contest and know that they have had a real game."

Allen Tilden called to the platform twenty-one high school members and they congratulated and praised the team and the hearty support of the school in various ways. Some rare poems were read and loudly applauded by the student body. Those reading poems were Miss Adams, Miss Alsbaugh, Miss Earle and Mrs. Weathers. Miss Lillian Southard, who is principal of the school, said that the people of Greencastle were watching and commenting on the fine, clean lives which the members of the team are living and that her plea would be to live so that they will always be far beyond reproach. She said that she would, if possible, attend the state tournament.

Prof. Courson announced this morning that anyone wishing to attend the state tournament will be excused from their classes and if the teachers care to go and there is not left a sufficient teaching staff the school will be dismissed. Already about fifty G. H. S. students and a few teachers have arranged to go and Greencastle will not lack support when the team meets Rochester Friday morning.

The chapel was one of the greatest of the year. The "pep" of the students kept the enthusiasm up to the highest pitch throughout the morning.

Prof. Knight announced this morning that a film of Mary Pickford's "How Could You, Yean?" with two reels of Holmes travel pictures will be shown at the high school Wednesday afternoon and night. The pictures are not included in the series of six which is being staged by the school, and the tickets for the six will not admit the owner to the entertainment. The pictures are secured from the Artercraft Picture Company and are said to be of the highest entertaining value. The admission will be 10c both afternoon and night.

Dorothy Dodson, daughter of Superintendent and Mrs. E. C. Dodson and a member of the junior high, is critically ill at Tell City, Ind., where she went with her parents a few days ago to recover from the "flu." She had a relapse after arriving there and is now very sick.

NAZARENE REVIVAL.

One of the most successful revival meetings that has yet been held by the Nazarenes in Greencastle closed last night. Evangelists George and Effie Moore surely endeared themselves to the hearts of the people, for when the crowded house was asked by the pastor if they would like to have Brother and Sister Moore come back to Greencastle for a tent meeting this fall nearly every hand went up, signifying their desire to have them return. A very blessed service was enjoyed yesterday morning when a class of sixteen members were taken into the Nazarene church. While the new members were testifying, a man came to the altar and was saved. At the night service the house was crowded to its capacity by 7 o'clock and the service began. Sister Effie Moore preached.

The regular prayer meeting service will be at 7:30 on Tuesday night. George M. Wilson has charge of the service for the study of the Bible every Friday night at 7:30. The Sunday school and preaching services are at the usual time on the Sabbath. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend all these services.

LEGISLATURE ENDS

SESSION AT MIDNIGHT

Seventy-first General Assembly to End Busy Session—Many Bills to Be Considered.

The state tax reform bill and the appropriation measures held chief interest today as the members of the legislature assembled for their final sessions. By constitutional provision the seventy-first general assembly will end at midnight tonight, although the proceedings may be extended beyond the midnight hour by the simple expedient of stopping the clock. This method has been used many times in the past. It is probable that both houses will hold sessions tonight at least until midnight.

Faculty Alters Tentative Ruling

SOLDIERS EITHER HOME OR OVERSEAS ARE NOW INCLUDED

Also Good Next Year

Announcement was made late Saturday afternoon of a change in a ruling recently made by the faculty of DePauw in regard to the granting of free tuition to overseas men who enter DePauw the third term.

The faculty has decided, it is said, to alter the ruling so that not only soldiers who have seen service in France are included among those granted free tuition but to also include men who have served six months or longer either in this country or abroad. Moreover, according to the new faculty ruling, returned soldiers may not only receive the free tuition privilege this coming term but upon the opening of the academic year in the fall.

As President Grose recently announced in chapel, the university has also made arrangement to loan money, the maximum sum of $100 a year to soldiers in need of funds.

MUST PETITION FOR MORE THAN 16 ACADEMIC HOURS

In an attempt to allay the trouble with nervous breakdowns and flunks, due to the jammed schedule, a recent ruling of the faculty makes it necessary to petition the faculty to take more hours than the prescribed sixteen in the coming term. This means that only students who are able in the eyes of the faculty, as shown by previous work, to carry more than an ordinary amount of work will be allowed to sign up for the heavier schedule.

PURDUE GRIDIRON MEN GET GOLD FOOTBALLS INSTEAD OF SWEATERS

Between the halves of the Purdue-Wabash basket ball game last night Mr. Ed. Jackson, former major in the U. S. army and commandant of the Purdue S. A. T. C. unit, awarded each of the members who were present, of the Camp Purdue football team, a miniature golden football as a token of their services on the gridiron last fall.

Professor Cutts, who introduced Mr. Jackson, explained that due to the unusual conditions under which the university was conducted last fall, the men could not be awarded "P's" as has been the custom, because of the fact that the men represented Camp Purdue and not the university. He added, however, that this service eleven played with all the courage, skill and fight of a regular varsity and that therefore these men were entitled to some recognition of their work.—Purdue Exponent.

Pres. Grose Praises Both Team and Coach

EXTENDS GRATITUDE OF THE UNIVERSITY FOR OLD GOLD RECORD

In a talk in chapel Friday, President Grose praised the Tiger basket ball team of the season which has just ended, and the work of Coach Buss. The respect and confidence of the student body and faculty in the coach was brought out by President Grose. Too much credit for the success of the team this season cannot be given Coach Buss and with his able coaching they have made for DePauw an excellent record of twelve victories out of fifteen played, he said. This is a record worthy of the state championship, President Grose asserted.

President Grose also praised the good conduct of the team while away on the trips. The manly way in which the members of the squad have responded to the dictates of their coach and the loyal support they have given him is a trait to be commended in the individual characters of the men, he said.

DePauw Picked as State Champions

HEAD, INDIANAPOLIS STAR SPORTING EDITOR, GIVES TIGERS EDGE

DePauw is awarded the state basket ball championship on a basis of comparative scores by John Head, sporting editor of the Indianapolis Star, in a sport write-up appearing in that paper today. Head gives it to DePauw through the consistent season's record of the Old Gold squad. He puts Wabash out on two losses at the Tigers' hands and likewise Purdue because of the heavy defeat received this week by Wabash. Head places Indiana out because of the erratic showing of the state squad throughout the season. DePauw is given the edge over Indiana through its four-point victory earlier in the season which offsets the lucky one-point margin gained by Indiana here Thursday night in the final game, he says.

"Folks Would Pester Me"

Somebody asked an old Missouri store-keeper why he didn't put a small advertisement in the local newspaper to advertise a "home blend" of coffee that was particularly good.

"I don't want," he replied lazily. "If I did, folks would pester me all the time to show 'em my goods."

Thus did an old Missouri store-keeper pay unconscious tribute to the business-getting value of advertising. He missed a lot of business, of course, but there's another side of it.

Lots of people who really wanted this particular brand of coffee were unable to get it because no one ever told them where it was to be had.

You know yourself that it would take you twice as long to shop if there were no advertisements to guide you in your buying. You wouldn't know where to start. You'd miss a lot of good values just because no one ever told you about them.

The man who advertises is glad to have you "pester him" to show you his goods. Don't miss the advertisements. They will save you money.
